DOINGS IN PARLIAMENT.

On Dominion Parliament has been in session over a month, but very little progress has been made yet. Only one important Government bill has been introduced, and that even that has not yet reached the critical stage of the second reading. The Yukon railway bill of the Government has been before the House already for nearly three weeks and the debate in regard to it is still dragging wearily along. The Government claimed that the case is so urgent that it should not be postponed to the next session, but the opponents of the bill have been able to make a speech on the question and most of these speeches are being made to nearly empty benches and the Government has been forced to postpone the bill to the next session. The Government has been very much disappointed at this result, but it is not likely to be able to do much more in the present session. The
